Fast Action Seen On Split Tax Law

The Community Property Bill, designed to save Bay State taxpayers from $32,000,000 to $100,000,000 yearly, today was headed for speedy action following approving votes in both House and Senate.

Both branches accepted the unanimous report of the legislative rules committee that the bill be admitted at the present session and Wednesday tentatively has been set for initial hearings on the measure before the joint committee on legal affairs.

Sen. Edward M. Rowe of Cambridge suggested Wednesday as the earliest date hearings could begin but promised that in any event the hearings would start before the end of next week.

Sen. Rowe was given a telegram today by Rep. David M. Cleary of Charlestown, co-sponsor of the measure, recording 5500 Haverhill shoe workers as in favor of speedy passage of the community property bill.

The message, from Joseph C. Goyette, manager and treasurer of the joint executive board, Local 31, United Shoe Workers of America, of Haverhill, declared that the 5500 shoe workers wished to be recorded in favor of the bill. Cleary said he had invited Goyette to attend the hearing on the bill.

Atty. Albert West, member of the Boston Recreation Board, declared the community property bill was an effective means to combat the encroachment of federal controls on State institutions.

"No single phase of government has escaped the growing federal controls," West said. "Commerce, industry and now education have felt its increasing power. Myriad federal agencies and bureaus have become a staggering tax burden on the backs of the American people.

"Eleven states have already adopted this plan to reduce the tax money paid over to support useless bureaus.

"If federal encroachment continues to displace state agencies and institutions, the only function which will be left for the Massachusetts Legislature will be to name the State flower and the State bird."

Under the law, husband and wife will share equally all income and all property acquired after marriage, or after passage of the law, whichever is later. For tax purposes, each can file a separate return for one half the income, thus keeping both in the low income group and out of the high surtax class.

The Community Property bill is so drawn that all anticipated objections to it will be quickly eliminated. Personal property of husband and wife acquired before marriage or prior to passage of the bill, will remain so, and the law will not interfere with any financial arrangements existing prior to passage.

Several changes may have to be made in divorce and inheritance laws, but bills to effect these changes are already being drawn up.

A California expert tax consultant yesterday in an interview with the Record-American, pointed out several benefits of the Community Property law not apparent in a reading of the bill.

He is Lester O. Wisler, of Oakland, who came here to attend the annual meeting of the Christian Science Church.

"The Community Property Law has been in effect in California since 1927," Wisler said. "I think such a law is just plain common sense, as under it, the individual saves in federal taxes and the state benefits by keeping money within the state which otherwise would go to the federal government.

"In California, the law has proved an incentive in keeping married couples together, and has brought about more reconciliations between couples than any other single factor. Judges and attorneys have relied on the law to reunite couples when they were on the verge of breaking up.

"The Community Property Law likewise helps keep people honest. According to official records in Washington, most tax evasion cases occur in non-community property states. The reason is that people in non-community property states realize they are paying more taxes proportionately than people in community property states. And so, they try to hide part of their taxable income."

Wisler showed by figures, that a man earning $7500 a year could save $4560 in federal taxes over a period of 20 years, a sum which in normal times would be sufficient to pay for a house.

Truman Flays Red Coup In Hungary, U. S. to Act

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—President Truman today denounced the Communist coup in Hungary as an outrage and asserted that the United States does not intend to stand idly by in that situation.

He told a news conference the State Department right now is looking into the whole Hungarian affair.

A reporter said it has been suggested the United States is sometimes in the position of shaking its fist at Hungary and sometimes just shaking its finger. He inquired whether the United States intended to do something in the present situation and Mr. Truman replied that it does.

In response to another inquiry, he said that the Hungarian situation is terrible and reiterated the State Department is making a full investigation.

Diplomatic authorities are speculating whether the Hungarian coup may be followed by steps to set up a Balkan federation of Soviet-dominated states in eastern and southern Europe.

Booby-Trap Letter Mailed to Eden

LONDON, June 5 INS)—Former Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden received today one of the now famous "letter bombs" flooding England but the missive was intercepted by a secretary and turned over to Scotland Yard.

At least three of the mysterious letters were detected during the day on top of eight or more than turned up yesterday. All were believed dispatched by a Jewish underground movement operating in Italy.

Looks Like Tax Veto Coming Up

President Truman said today that Sen. Taft (R.) of Ohio has advocated "fallacious and dangerous" procedure on the economic front.

Mr. Truman made this statement at a news conference at which he announced apointment of former Gov. Dwight T. Griswold of Nebraska to be chief of the United States mission to Grece under the $400,000,000 Greek-Turkish aid bill.

At the same time, he appointed Richard F. Allen to administer the $350,000,000 relief program for other European countries.

In a lengthy prepared statement, Mr. Truman took issue with Taft's recent statement that "apparently the President and the Administration are abandoning talk of keeping prices down in favor of heavy spending abroad that will keep them up."

Reading his statement rapidly, the President said buntly the Administration does not advocate the Greek-Turkish aid program "for the purpose of bpringing prices down," but to aid starving millions restore the economies and to bulwark them "against totalitarian aggression."

While foreign aid programs place some strain upon the American economy, he said, the answer is to make price reductions at home "even more urgent."

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—Senators steup today for their turn at approving the compromise labor bill that rode a rock-crusher vote to passage in the House. Sen. Taft (R.) of Ohio said there was a chance the Senate ballot might go over until tomorrow. It depends, he said, on how many people want to speak how long.

Once the vote comes, the bill goes to the White House, where some key Democrats expect a veto.

There is no doubt about Senate passage. The only question is whether the vote will turn up a margin indicating that Congress will override a veto. That takes a two-to-one majority in both branches.

The House score late yesterday was better thah four-to-one—320 to 79.

Reds Tightening Grip on Hungary

BUDAPEST, Hungary, June 5 (AP)—Reliable reports indicated today that Communist forces were seeking to consolidate their hold on the Hungarian government by quashing criticism and redoubling border patrols.

Automobile dealers reported an increased demand for cars capable of traveling as far as the Austrian border, and an official announcement said police were hunting for 14 stolen passports.

Mystery Huddle In Lobby Delays Kelly Trial Start

Unusual proceedings today delayed start of the trial of City Council President John B. Kelly on three indictments stemming from an investigation of municipal affairs three months ago. A lengthy conference of prosecuting and defense attorneys was held in the lobby of the chambers of Superior Judge John V. Sullivan, assigned to sit on the case by Chief Justice John P. Higgins in a specially created session.

JOHN B. KELLY
Councilor's Bribe Trial Opens

In the lobby were Dist. Atty. Williiam J. Foley, Asst. Dist. Atty. Frederick T. Doyle and two other assistants, Defense Atty. Timothy J. Murphy, himself a former assistant district attorney, and Atty. Francis E. Kelly, brother of the defendant and former lieutenant governor.

The panel of prospective jurors was swelled to 143 by inclusion of veniremen called yesterday for selection of a jpry in a first-degree murder case.

Reports circulating in the corridors of the courthouse said the veniremen would be questioned one at a time in individual audiences before the judge.

There was also a report the prosecution would ask Judge Sullivan to lock up the jury during the trial.

Earlier today, Kelly went before Judge Vincent Brogna and pleaded innocent to a corrective indictment charging him with attempted larceny. The corrective indictment was returned by the grand jury after Judge Brogna had quashed the original indictment on a technicality.

J. Comoletti

A. J. Donato

Asst. Dist. Atty. Frederick T. Doyle said he will call only "10 or 11 witnesses" including "some government officials." He did not elaborate on the identity of his witnesses.

Kelly was charged in six counts with soliciting bribes and attempted larceny from John Comoletti and Antonio J. Donato, both war veterans operating a garage in Dorchester.

Indicted with Kelly was Councilor Joseph M. Scannell of South Boston, who was named in connection with an alleged demand for $3000 from Beekman Fairbank of Cohasset to allow his water taxi service to operate from the Airport to the Congress st. bridge. No date has been set yet for Scannell's trial.

Defense counsel is Attys. Timothy J. Murphy and Frank L. Simpson.

Robber Slays East Lynn Man in Office

Harry Rosen, 63, proprietor of the Rosen Products Co., East Lynn, was found bludgeoned to death in the office of his small plant in Silverlake pk. today. Detectives said he apparently was murdered in a robbery which netted his assailant less than $75.

His body was discovered by Robert Smith, 25, Eastern ave., East Lynn, an employe. Police reported they found no weapon although the plant, a converted garage, and the office where Rosen's body lay in a pool of blood, was stocked with hundreds of sledge hammers, steel bars, iron weights, broken pipe and heavy tools. The Rosen plant manufacturers range oil drums and tanks.

Dr. Lawrence F. Cusick, medical examiner, said the victim had been dead for about 12 hours. He reported death was caused by fractures of the skull.

Rosen lived with his wife, Sadie, in the Breakers Hotel, Lynn Shore dr.

Smith, an overseas veteran who has been employed by Rosen for 12 years, said he usually picked up his boss in his own car at the hotel mornings before going to work. Not finding Rosen at the hotel this morning, Smith added, he drove alone to the plant, located in the rear of the Ingalls School.

Peering through the office window, Smith saw Rosen's body sprawled on the floor, his head bashed in.

Rosen, he continued, usually carried between $50 and $75 on his person.

State Police Lt. Raymond Foley said Dr. Cusick, and probably Dr. Alan R. Moritz, staate pathologist, would perform an autopsy this afternoon. Rosen, in addition to his wife and daughter, is survived by a son, a surgeon, of Memphis, Tenn.

Sec. Marshall, Gen. Bradley Awarded Harvard Degrees

Secretary of State Marshall and Gen. Omar N. Bradley, administrator of veterans' affairs, were awarded honorary degrees of doctor of laws today at Harvard University's 296th commencement. Ten other honorary degrees and 2250 college and graduate schools degrees were also awarded.

Gen. Marshall's citation read:

"An American to whom freedom owes an enduring debt of gratitude, a soldier and statesman whose ability and character brook only one comparison in the history of this nation."

President James B. Conant, who presented the degrees, cited Gen. Bradley as follows:

"A master of the art of war who now serves those whom he once led; a courageous administrator, the nation is doubly in his debt."

The two great generals were not the only soldiers present. Hundreds of veterans of the war were among those who completed their collegiate careers today after having returned from far-flung combat zones to take their places in civil life.

All the panoply of peace lent color to the traditional scene under the historic elms in the ancient Harvard Yard. Gov. Bradford arrived under escort of a company of lancers on horseback. The exercises began, as they have begun since the earliest times with three blows on the platform struck by the sheriff of Middlesex County—in this case, Sheriff Loring R. Kew—with his sword in its scabbard.

Preceding the exercises the graduates, professors an dnotable alumni marched in dignified procession through the yard.

Gen. Marshall was in the van of the academic procession. He wore a gabardine civilian suit. Gen. Bradley, a little way back, was in full uniform. The audience, filling the Tercentenary outdoor theater from Memorial Chapel to Widener Library, stood and applauded and the band played "Fair Harvard."

The oldest class represented was '86, of which there were three members present. They were Dr. Russell Whitman, 86, of Evanston, Ill.; Dr. Godfrey Cabot of 242 Beacon st., who is only a month younger than Dr. Whitman, and Lysson Gordon, 85, of Warren st., West Medford.

Doctors of law degrees were also bestowed on James Wolcott Wadsworth, former senator and congressman from New York; George Henry Chase, former dean of Harvard University and professor emeritus of archaeology; and Frank Learoyd Boyden, principal of Deerfield Academy since 1902.

Doctors of science degrees were presented to J. Robert Oppenheimer, director of the Institute for Advanced Studies, Princeton, N. J., and former director of the Santa Fe, N. M., laboratory which perfected the atomic bomb, and William Francis Gibbs, naval architect. Gibbs won the American Design Award for making possible mass production of ships through standardization of parts.

Missouri-born Thomas Stearns Eliot, English poet and publisher of "The Criterion" of London, was given an honorary degree of doctor of letters. A similar degree was conferred on Ivor Armstrong Richards, Lamont University professor at Harvard and lecturer on literary criticism.

A degree of doctor of divinity was conferred on President Ernest Cadman Colwell of the University of Chicago, former dean of the university's divinity school and author of religious books.

Masters of arts degrees were awarded to William Hodding Carter, Jr., editor-publisher of the Delta Democrat-Times, Greenville, Miss., and William Addison Dwiggins, typographical designer and adviser of Hingham, Mass. Carter is a former publisher of the Cairo edition of the "Stars and Stripes" and "Yank" magazine.

Water Shortage Greatest Peril to Flooded Rutland

RUTLAND, Vt., June 5—The Army, relief organizations and state agencies today rushed in emergency supplies of water, food and clothing to this flood-isolated city of 18,000, many of them homeless and threatened by disease.

WANTS FREEDOM — Dancer Tilly Losch is seeking to end her 1939 marriage to the Earl of Carnarvon in London. Her petition appeared in a list of undefended cases scheduled for hearing in divorce court.

With 500 persons homeless, the chief problem was drinking water and the threat of typhoid from contaminated supplies. It was estimated that ample water supplies will not be restored for at least five days although electric lights went back into operation today for the first time since the flash flood loosed terro Tuesday night.

Check at armories and municipal buildings where the homeless have been temporarily quartered disclosed that none had lost their lives in the disaster.

All six persons originally feared drowned now have been located.

Most of the homeless were being cared for at Rutland Armory, it was announced by Lt. Col. F. W. Billado, who ordered out State Guardsmen to set up emergency field kitchens, temporary water supply tanks and guard against looting.

The Red Cross reported it was shipping water purification units here.

It was estimated it would require a week to restore even near-normal service to Rutland's flood-wrecked water and gas supply lines.

Meanwhile, medical supplies were being sent into the city from all parts of the state as health authorities took all possible precautions to guard against the outbreak of an epidemic.

Among emergency measures under consideration was the possibility of community inoculations to offset the threat of illness from tainted drinking water.

Key highways leading into the city were made passable by repair crews. Collapse of the Rutland Railroad main line bridge caused trains to be rerouted over nearby lines.

The housing problem in Rutland, already tight before the flash flood swept hundreds of homes, was seen as a major aftermath of the disaster.

Once-Great Whaling Fleet Now Has 2 Ships

HERMOSA BEACH, Cal., June 5 (AP)—Mae Marsh, who 33 years ago jumped to fame overnight in one of the principal roles in the film "The Birth of a Nation," today attracted a different kind of notice with her paintings.

Mae Marsh

Her ability as an artist was disclosed when the County library here opened a spring art show wtih a group of her oils.

"I began painting for the fun of it," she explained. "I read somewhere that Winston Churchill just likes to daub colors on canvas and I guess I belong to the same school."

He was among the first American units to crack the Siegfried Line into the Reich.

SMART MOVE

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—The Rural Electrification Administration told today of an Arkansas farmer who couldn't get power lines strung to his home. So he moved his home to the electric lines.

J. D. Murphree, living 14 miles south of Newport, Ark., applied for REA electric service but was informed a shortage of materials made it impossible to extend the line one-half mile to his house.

So, the REA said, he put skids under his house, hitched on a tractor and moved it to the source of power.

Woman Bad Check "Artist" Escapes

CONCORD, N. H., June 5 (AP)—State Prison Warden Charles B. Clarke reported today Ethel May Curtis, 49, termed by the FBI the nation's foremost female bogus check artist, had escaped from the women's reformatory at Rutland, Vt.

Details were not available, Clarke said, because of poor telephone connections from flood-ravaged Rutland.

Miss Curtis was serving five to seven years in the Rutland Reformatory because facilities for women are not maintained at Concord State Prison. She was wanted in 26 other states at the time of her arrest in Dover last Sept. 9.

Teachers Join Hub Welcome To Patriot Trio

Educational and religious leaders joined civic leads and officials of the American Legion today in planning an enthusiastic welcome to the three Washington, D. C., high school students who will arrive in Boston Saturday on their tour of six cities to revive Americanism in the schools.

The two girls and a boy who walked out on a Communist lecture in their school auditorium will spend three days here on a tour made possible by the Hearst newspapers. They are Virginia Marakle, Ruthe Pigott and Richard Smith, all seniors.

They will be met at Back Bay station at 12:45 p. m. by George Curley, city greeter representing his father, the mayor. A luncheon at the Copley Plaza will follow, to which representatives of Abp. Cushing and Protestant and Jewish faiths and heads of Boston public and parochial schools have been invited.

Sunday morning at 9, they will be honored at a breakfast at the Copley Plaza tendered by leaders of the Massachusetts Department, American Legion. Attending will be Department Com. Lawrence F. Quigley, Jeremiah Twomey of Lawrence, Philip Cashman of Fitchburg, Harold P. Redden of Springfield, Frederick L. Mellin of Roslindale, Coleman Curran, Rev. Paul Chapman and Solomon Provost.

Monday, they will speak at an assembly of Boston Latin School, and later will broadcast over WEEI. That evening they will be guests at a dinner at the Sheraton.

Their latest visit was to Milwauke, Wis., where the Almis-Chalmers plants are located. These factories were involved in one of the most violent strikes in American history, staged by Communist dominated unions.

Their first visit was to the West Allis Central High. Many of the students are sons and daughters of the men who tied up the industry for 11 months.

Officials and students warmly welcomed them.

"We were a bit timid about coming here," Ruthe Pigott said to one of the student group.

"Nothing to worry about here," was the prompt response.

"We admire your spunk and believe it is one of the answers."

Instead of talking to the students in the assembly halls, Ruthe Pigott, Virginia Marakle and Dick Smith went into panel discussions with class leaders.

25 Witnesses Wait Call To Testify for Mrs. Cote

BROCKTON, June 5—Although the defense plans to call 25 witnesses, little Barbara Cote, 4, will play no part in the battle to save the life of her mother, Mrs. Bertha S. Cote, who goes on trial charged with murder at Plymouth June 16.

This is the decision of Defense Atty. Eben Townes, noted criminal lawyer, who plans within the next few days to file motions seeking additional reports on the autopsy performed on Rene Cote, slain here in his home last Dec. 28.

"We have no intention of allowing the child to testify," Townes said. His decision came in the face of reports that the youngster was asleep at home on the night her father was killed.

Little Barbara, it was learned, has several times visited her mother at Plymouth jail, where Mrs. Cote has been confined since her arrest and arraignment last January. The child was brought to the jail by Mrs. Charlotte Wetherell of Spencer, sister of Mrs. Cote, who has cared for Barbara Ann since her mother's arrest.

Barbara saw her mother, not in a prison cell, but in Sheriff Charles Robbins' private office on the first floor, and to prevent any such jail atmosphere as barred windows, which might remain branded in the little girl's memory, Sheriff Robbins arranged that all curtains in the room be drawn and the lights turned on.

In this atmosphere so far removed from prison grimness, mother and daughter embraced and chatted. On two occasions, Mrs. Wetherell and the child were accompanied by two older women whose identity was not revealed, but one was believed by jail officers to be Mrs. Cote's mother. The visitors brought gifts of candy, cigarets, magazines, books and sewing materials.

Mrs. Cote spends much of her time in her cell sewing and knitting, and according to the jail matron, Mrs. Abbie Woodward, she is in consistent good spirits, and a cheerful and co-operative prisoner.

Judge Ignores Bedroom Evidence

LONDON, June 5 (INS)—A British army major was denied a divorce today despite the court's acceptance of his charge that he found his wife asleep in bed with a riding master.

Maj. Patrick Pole-Crew, 30, now with his regiment on the African Gold Coast, declared he made the discovery one cold night in January, 1946.

Judge John Wallington ruled that there was no misconduct because the major's 29-year-old wife, Sonia, and Thomas Chisman had "nothing in common except their mutual interest in horses," adding:

"I have seen the wife and Chisman and know their ages and antecedents. I accept their evidence that they have not committed misconduct."

Led With His Chintz, N. Y. Socialite Says

NEW YORK, June 5—Lots of people are having trouble with their plans for this summer. Mrs. Austen T. Grey, niece of the famous beautiful Deacon sisters of Boston, ordered a chintz garden umbrella for her home in Roslyn, L. I. She wanted it covered in green.

Instead, it came in white. As a result, Walter Johnson, of Glen Cove, the North Shore's leading interior decorator, will have to appear in court Friday to answer a charge of third-degree assault.

Mrs. Gray, a niece of the dowager Duchess of Marlborough and of the Princess Rarziwell, went into Mineola court yesterday and signed on affidavit against Johnson.

She said she ordered the garden umbrella with green chintz cover for her home on Motts Cove rd. It was to have a "cabbage rose fringe." When it turned up the covering was white.

"What happened to the green chintz cover?" she asked Johnson.

"But, Mrs. Gray, you ordered white," he retorted.

At that, she picked up the umbrella and started for the door of her home. Johnson, her affidavit says, tried to restrain her, saying, "You can't have it. The umbrella cover is mine." She replied:

"You can't have it because the frame is mine."

With that, she said, she yelled for help and a cook and servant responded. Meanwhile, she said, "the tussle seemed to enrage him and he brought up his fists and struck them down on my arm."

Johnson was described as six foot four and 250 pounds. She is five foot two and 105 pounds.

Johnson, she said, pulled the three of them to his car, wrested the umbrella from them and put it into the back seat. While he was walking around the car to drive it off, she seized the umbrella and dashed for the house.

Johnson caught up with her before she reached the porch and took it back after a short struggle, she said, and made off while she called the 6th Precinct, Roslyn.

Mrs. Gray is the former Beatrice D. Gray, known socially as 'Milo." She made her debut in 1938 and was married in 1941. Her husband, at the time of their marriage was associated with the real estate firm of Webb & Knapp, Inc. The weding was highlight of the Notrh Shore social season that year.

Yacht Murder Jury Short After 3 Weeks Trial

SANTA ANA, Cal., June 5 (AP)—Because the lawyers have been getting prospective jurors excused almost as fast as they are empaneled, the Overell yacht explosion murder case today was in recess until Monday. By then, 125 additional talesmen will have been summoned, and from them there may come a sufficient number of citizens satisfactory to both sides.

Counsel for Louise Overell, 18-year-old heiress and her 21-year-old finance, George Gollum, jointly charged with murdering her parents, have indicated they may use all of their 30 peremptory challenges, although thereafter Louise would be forced to accept the jury.

Her attorneys twice tried unsuccessfully to get a separate trial for her on the ground she was a minor when Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Overell met death aboard their power cruiser March 15 in Newport harbor. She is not liable for capital punishment if convicted, whereas Gollum would be. Many prospective jurors have been excused because they claimed to have preconceived opinions as to the guilt or innocence of the young couple, but a surprisingly large number professed to be opposed to the death penalty.

Some court observers professed to see an eagerness to escape jury service because of rumors the jury might be locked up the six to eight weeks required to hear the case. A court officer said, however, that Judge Kenneth E. Morrison most likely would not lock up the jury unless some evidence of tampering developed.

When Judge Morrison recessed the case, until 10 a. m. Monday, there were six men and five women tentatively seated. One male juror had just been challenged by the defense.

So far, the prosecution has used peremptory challenges against seven women and the defense has dismissed eight men and only one woman. Lawyers agreed that testimony may not start until late next week.

Fears Return of Gas-Rationing

WASHINGTON, June 5 (INS)—Former deputy petroleum administrator Ralph K. Davies today said the United States may well have to return to rationing of gasoline and heating oil.

Davis told the Senate foreign relations committee that "we do not face an oil shortage. We are in the midst of one—now."

Noting the United States already has reached the point where it is not producing as much oil as it needs, Davis warned:

"People did not like rationing the last time—and they will not like it the next time."

Davies said domestic crude oil production has been running in excess of five million barrels daily, higher than the wartime peak, yet imports have been close to half a million barrels a day.

'Used' Car Racket Surveyed in N. Y.

NEW YORK, June 5 (AP)—City License Comr. Benjamin Fielding, conducting a fact-finding survey of the automobile market in New York, has discovered what he describes as a national problem where "we have used car dealers in the new car business."

Fielding said his investigation has disclosed "an unprecedented situation with thousands seeking new cars from new car agencies and getting them from used car dealers."

Sugar Surplus Backs Hearst Papers Claim

By KENT HUNTER
Boston American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, June 5 — Figures on sugar tonnage available for United States use this year from world supplies, show a surplus of 2,000,000 tons.

The figure sustains the claims made by the Hearst newspapers six months ago, when demands were made that sugar rationing for the American people for the coming year be increased from 78 to 95 pounds per capita.

The sugar tonnage for U. S. use this year will total 10,010,000 tons as against the 8,000,000 tons which the Agriculture Dept. estimated last January would be enough to permit lifting of all sugar controls by June 30.

Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R.), of Wisconsin, renewed his demand today for an immediate end of sugar controls and sugar rationing.

Agriculture Sec. Anderson, under whose control sugar allocations passed when OPA ceased to function, today declared the time is "very close" for removal of controls, indicating a decision within two weeks.

At the same time Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., (R.) of Massachusetts reported a recommendation to the Senate that the United States approve continuance for one year of the world agreement by which world sugar crops are allocated internationally.

A similar agreement was in effect during the war years when Java, Philippine and Hawaiian sugar crops were unavailable for world distribution.

E-Bond Cash-ins Top Buying for 2d Month

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—Cash-ins of series E bonds, the former war bond issue, exceeded purchases in May for the second straight month.

Treasury officials said today redemptions outstripped buying by $23,953,000, or $329,015,000 against $305,062,000.

Australian Life, Views Like Our Own

By RANDOLPH HEARST

SYDNEY (Via MacKay Radio), June 5I have just completed a hasty one-way flying tour of southeastern Australia where I visited Canberra, Melbourne and the mining town of Broken Hill.

The average Australian is a rugged, sports-loving, gregarious individual blessed with good sense of humor and possessing a disrespect for authority equalled only by his American cousins.

Ninety per cent are of Anglo-Saxon descent and proud of it, but the well-known reserve of their British ancestors is nowhere in evidence.

Most of the people got to know our soldiers during the war and a lively interest in America has developed.

We in America think slang is a homegrown product but the Australian uses more of it in his ordinary conversation than any group of English speaking peoples in the world.

Before rationing and the war Australians ate more meat, bread, mutton and butter than Americans. However, they were never much on vegetables, fruits and salads. Of course, tea is the national drink and after tasting the coffee it is understandable.

Food rationing is still in effect here with meat and butter heading the list, but this is done to help Britain rather than because of any local shortages.

Coal, coal gas and electricity are short in many parts of the country, due to labor troubles, and housing is as much of a problem as in the States. Gasoline is still rationed and in order to obtain a new car, it is necessary to get a permit.

Clothing and household appliances are hard to get.

Wages are much lower than in our country, but as costs in general are also lower, the difference in the standard of living is not great.

River Dragged For Girl's Body

SPRINGFIELD, June 5—Waters of the swollen Connecticut river were being dragged today for the body of Dorothy Louise Tucker, 22, Chapel st., a waitress, who sank before the eyes of her fiance struggling to reach her side.

Herbert Beaudoin, 21, Merrick st., West Suringfield, the fiance, was at Mercy Hospital under treatment for immersion and shock.

Two other men who swam to safety with Beaudoin after their boat sank were treated for immersion. They are James Denesha, 20, of Main st., West Springfield, and his father, Fred, 54, of Walnut st.

Ex-Maj. Wermuth Divorced, Re-Wed

WHEATLAND, Wyo., June 5 (AP)—Arthur W. Wermuth, once famed as the "One-Man Army of Bataan," for his heroism there, was divorced and married again in less than an hour here.

The former Army major, now a Hill City, S. D., service station operator, was granted a divorce from Jean Wilkins Wermuth, Traverse City, Mich., on grounds of intolerable indignities after the action was contested by his former wife.

Half and hour after Wermuth left the courthouse, he was married to Patricia Steele, 23, a former Denver parachutist.

REDS REVISE PENALTIES

MOSCOW, June 5 (AP)—Punishments for crimes of violence are redefined and standardized today by a government decree apparently aimed at strengthening protection of private and public property.

Grace Moore's Gift From King Found

Jack-in-the-Box Shoots Men From Speeding Planes

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Editor

ATLANTIC CITY, June 5 (AP)—A human jack-in-the-box, at Wright Field, Ohio, that has shot 88 men safely up 50 to 60 feet in less than a second, was described to the Aero Medical Ass'n today.

The contrivance is an ejector, now about perfected, to throw men out of planes doing 600 miles an hour, tossing them so high that the plane's tail will not hit them when they bail out. Actually this ejector is a cannon five feet long, firing a 37-millimeter shell.

The cannon shoots out a heavy rod instead of a projectile, and the rod is fastened to the back of the pilot's seat. Seat, pilot, and whatever he needs for survival all shoot out in one tight bunch.

The shots and their effects on human beings were described by Lt. W. H. Ames, Dr. H. M. Sweeney, and Dr. H. E. Savely of the aero medical laboratory at Wright Field.

Though this is the nearest thing to shooting a man out of a gun, the experience is amazingly easy, to hear Lt. Ames tell the story. In one shot he accidentally had a lighted cigaret in his mouth. As he rose with a tremendous acceleration equal to many times gravitation, the cigaret tipped down almost to his chin, due to gravitational pull. But it righted and finished the shot in his mouth, without even the ash being knocked off.

Smoking in Bed Costs Life of Fall River Widow

FALL RIVER, June 5—Trapped by fire in her first-floor apartment, Mrs. Leona F. Michaud, 51, a receptionist at the Truesdale Clinic, died today from burns and smoke inhalation.

Lt. John A. Monsour of the State Fire Marshall's office said she apparently had fallen asleep while smoking in bed.

A Summer Delight

With the coming of warmer days . . . now you'll see the FULL Advantages of this wonderful new development in Modern "Beauty Magic" . . .

No matter how hot-and-humid the weather . . . M-LAB will not cause even the slightest trace of "shine" or stickiness!

POSITIVELY NO OIL OR GREASE OR CLOYING FATS. AND NO RESIDUAL FILM!

MANY USERS of M-LAB are so enthusiastic about it that they ask us why on earth we didn't place this product on the market long ago. Actually, we have known of its really remarkable merits for some years past. But the plain truth is that the materials needed for its manufacture were not available — until recently — in production quantity.

During the War, we were able to make occasional small lots of M-LAB. Yet this was not enough even for the Doctors and Nurses and other professional people who ordered the product — by mail — from all over America. They knew how M-LAB had been originated by famous Research Chemists — regardless of cost — to protect their own hands — under the most trying conditions of Laboratory work. And it was the glowing endorsements of these professional people which caused us to offer M-LAB for public use. We believe it to be — beyond all doubt — the very finest thing of its kind ever made! In technical fact, it is so far ahead of old-style Creams and Lotions that there's simply no comparison.

So far as we know, every single person who has yet tried M-Lab is wholeheartedly in agreement! The proof is seen in the Stores. In less than two months, this product has already gained the foremost preference of discriminating women in all Greater Boston.

Look for the handsome pink-gold label at leading Pharmacies and Department Stores. Sold only in large-economy jars . . . enough for 3 or 4 months use . . . at the sensible price of but 85¢ (plus tax). It will really and truly delight you.

All-Time Record!

Already—less than 2 months after its first public sale! . . . M-LAB has won easily first preference in Greater Boston.

THERE'S NEVER BEFORE BEEN ANYTHING LIKE IT . . . ANYWHERE . . . AT ANY PRICE

Not a Cream . . . Not a Lotion. It combines the best advantages of both in a rich Emollient COLLOID that really Beautifies the Skin.

Its cost of manufacture is actually far more than many old-style Creams & Lotions that sell for twice the price.

M-LAB. for Beautiful Hands

Home Garden Forum

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head of the Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School

Q—Is it too late to move roses now?

A—It is not safe to move roses after the buds have started unless you use extreme care in digging and setting. They must be watered thoroughly. Potted plants from the nursery can still be set.

Q—If D. D. T. is used to spray shade trees and woodlands will it kill off all birds and beneficial insects?

A—Some killing of birds has resulted from the use of D. D. T. Spraying should be done by experts to avoid trouble.

Q—Is there any loose leaf lettuce that is better in quality than Oak Leaf? We thought it was tough.

A—The quality of any loose leaf lettuce depends to some extent on how it is grown and weather conditions. It must have a fertile soil and grow fast. Bronze Beauty is a new variety which may suit you better. Try it.

Q—The tomato plants that we set have fallen over. Does this indicate weak stems?

A—Flat grown plants will usually fall over if they are not set deeper than they were in the plant box. These plants will thicken up in a short time. If you plan to stake them, you had better start now to avoid crooked plants.

Q—What vegetables require thinning?

A—All vegetables must be spaced properly, but the ones that require thinning are the ones planted in drills from seed such as beets, carrots and parsnips. Unless these are spaced properly, poor crops will result.

Q—Are the dwarf fruit trees better for the small home owner?

A—These small trees are good if good stock is used. Easier to spray and take care of. They all need constant care however.

SOUND BANKING PRINCIPLES never go out of style . . .

The years bring transitions of all kinds to practically all forms of business and to our individual lives. While the State Street Trust Company has kept pace with the faster tempo and changes of operation required by modern banking and the constantly increasing amount of business which it handles in all its departments, it has never deviated from the fundamentally sound banking practices which were pledged in the last century by its founders. In great measure it is this adherence to principle which is responsible for the confidence reposed in it by not only its old but also its new customers.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

IT IS CHARACTERISTIC of the Army that time comes when men are exiled to posts of insignificance, perhaps to make sure that they do not forget the routine of futilities, the pettiness of Army post life, the smallness of being king of a few acres.

Gen. Mark Clark is beyond doubt one of the most competent statesmen in the service of the American people. His heroisms were in the line of duty but his administration in Austria, his grasp of the essential problems of Middle Europe, his genius for handling the Russians, his foresight in bringing to bear upon Middle European affairs the principles now called the Truman doctrine were marks of ability not expected in any Army officer and his execution was far beyond the line of duty.

So just at the moment when the Greco-Turkish enterprise is being put into effect, and when the Russians have seized Hungary, Mark Clark is brought back to the United States to be stationed at the Presidio where he can twiddle his thumbs in the pursuit of paper routine that any colonel can do just as well.

San Franciscans are fortunate that Gen. Clark will be in their midst and I am sure that he will add lustre to the Bohemian Grove this summer. But it seems to me that he should be stationed in Germany, Austria, or Greece where he could continue to do the job for which his natural gifts and his vast experience have fitted him.

PRECISELY the same mistake was made with Gen. Wedemeyer, an equally gifted Army officer who has been trained as an expert in Far Eastern affairs.

It was planned to make Gen. Wedemeyer the American ambassador to China but for reasons never given the public, he was, at the very last moment, bypassed, and the aging, not particularly suited missionary educator, Dr. Leighton Stuart, was appointed to that post with Gen. Marshall actually in charge of our affairs there.

Between them they made quite a mess out of our policy in China, pursuing a course there precisely and completely opposite to the Truman policy. The result has been a major disaster, not only for China and Korea, but for the United States.

I have been told by those who ought to be familiar with what went on at Moscow that Gen. Clark, the expert on Austria, was at loggerheads with other advisers of George Marshall, particularly with Ben Cohen and Charles P. Kindleberger, neither of whom are as competent in this particular field as he is.

The policy-making group in the State Department whom these two represented at Moscow, would have preferred, I am told, some treaty over Austria rather than none at all.

Kindleberger is a former Treasury man shifted over to the State Dept. and put in charge of the economic desk of the German section where his function is to adhere to the Morgenthau plan as implemented by JCS 1067—an unworkable and harmful doctrine that Herbert Hoover so ably exposed.

THESE State Dept. policy-makers are desirous of having the Italian treaty confirmed by the Senate, in spite of the obvious fact that it is a direct violation of the Truman doctrine and in spite of the fact that that treaty makes a gift of Italy to international Communism. They still hope to arrange an Austrian treaty.

Anything to get something on paper—duly signed with seals and ribbons—even if that anything is in conflict with a foreign policy voted by Congress and proclaimed by the President!

Universal Training Or Extinction

THE PRESIDENT'S Advisory Commission on Universal Training has unanimously recommended that a permanent system of COMPULSORY MILITARY TRAINING be established, to operate in peacetime and to include all American youths of the age of 18 years.

By this action, the Commission has taken the vital subject of universal training completely out of the field of politics, where it has never properly belonged—and it is so overwhelmingly RIGHT that the subject no longer properly belongs in the field of controversy and debate.

Our national decision on universal training, as the Commission advises, can only safely evolve from one fundamental consideration—that we either be made ADEQUATELY READY for successful defense of the country in the event of war, or take the risk of ultimate NATIONAL EXTINCTION.

The only ALTERNATIVE to universal training, it grimly warns, is MILITARY WEAKNESS. And it further warns:

"Weakness is an INVITATION TO EXTERMINATION."

The American people must not be deceived, and particularly must not deceive themselves, that their existing military establishments constitute adequate safeguards against war, for they are actually nothing more than "a hollow shell," utterly INCAPABLE of warding off aggression, as the President's advisors warn.

In our present condition of UNPREPAREDNESS, President Truman was told:

"The United States, shunning aggression, stands as a PRIME TARGET for the aggressor of the future. This is true both because of its great wealth which makes it a tempting target for conquest, and because it looms as the chief obstacle to world domination by any power seeking to obliterate freedom.

"The United States must be DEFEATED—and defeated FIRST—if aggression is to succeed."

Congress should begin its CONSIDERATION of this comprehensive and patriotic report at once, and should ACT UPON IT FAVORABLY without further indecision or procrastination.

WISE DECISION

THE SENATE Committee on Rules, sustaining the action of the House Committee, has admitted the Community Property Bill for the Legislature's consideration.

These Senators deserve praise for their wise and far-sighted decision.

They have paved the way for a Federal income tax reduction of as much as ONE HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS for Massachusetts people.

They have made it possible to end the unfair situation whereby a person who lives in Massachusetts pays a substantially higher tax on the same income as the person who lives in California or in any of the other Community Property States.

They have given the Legislature an opportunity to obtain more revenue for the State Government without imposing an added burden on the people, for the man who saves 40 per cent on his Federal income tax will hardly object to paying the State 5 or 10 per cent more.

The only practical way for Massachusetts to receive the tax concessions granted the Community Property States by the United States Treasury Department is to become a Community Property State herself, and thus keep Massachusetts money in Massachusetts to benefit Massachusetts.

There are, of course, many other advantages in the Community Property Act. As Judge John J. Burns, one of the nation's outstanding lawyers, told the House Committee Tuesday, "it recognizes a long-neglected principle that the wife, through her domestic efforts, makes as important a contribution to the success and happiness of the family—and the individuals in it—as does the husband who actually accumulates the economic wealth."

With every morn their love grew tenderer,
With every eve deeper and tenderer still;
He might not in house, field or garden stir
But her full shape would all his seeing fill.
He knew whose gentle hand was at the latch
Before the door had given her to his eyes,
And from her chamber window he could catch
Her beauty farther than the falcon spies.

NOW A NATIVE of Northern Ireland, where Greer Garson comes from, challenges Brooklyn, Texas and California with something to top. He says in Lurgan, County Armagh, Ireland, a Mrs. Olive Lappan has a baby who started talking at five months of age. At 13 months this infant was carrying on lengthy conversations. At 18 months she knew 12 poems by heart and could sing "Let Mr. McGuire Sit Down, Bridget Donahue," "The Wearin' of the Green" and six other songs. At the age of two she was solving jigsaw puzzles.

ASKING: Queries from clients. Q—Has there ever been a celebrated poet who was red-haired? A—Yes, indeed. The great Algernon Charles Swinburne. Q—Everybody I ask about the origin of the term "jaywalker" has a different answer. What's yours? A—In the yesteryear a visitor to the city from the rural districts was called a "jay," a term synonymous with "hick" or "rube." These strangers in town, ignorant of traffic regulations, crossed the streets at any point and consequently had to do considerable dodging. Hence the term "jaywalker."

HORSES & WOMEN: When Robert Taylor was first engaged to act before the camera he was given a studio questionnaire to fill out. Among the questions was: "What type of woman would you prefer to marry?" Young Mr. Taylor, then just fresh from college, wrote: "A sophisticated woman who dresses in black." When Robert acquired Barbara Stanwyck as a matrimonial mate his dreams came true. I would like to know how some of the other budding stars answered this query. Incidentally, there is in England an organization known as the Marriage Society. This group tries to find the type of mate those registering with the organization would like to have. The Marriage Society recently reported most male applicants place physical attraction first. They want to marry an "oomph girl," and will take a chance that she can cook. The women are said to be more concerned with their future mate's financial position, and are "endlessly seeking security."

ASIDES: The cheapest city in Canada to live in is Winnipeg. At present the cost of living is 23 per cent above prewar . . . Note it stated Mary "My Heart Belongs to Daddy" Martin, stage and screen beauty from Texas, has been married but once. She has been married twice. The first time at sixteen. At seventeen she became a mother and was divorced shortly after.

SNOW BLONDE: The latest Swedish cinema sensation, Mai Zetterling, is not a large-framed beauty like Garbo and Ingrid Bergman, but a cute, little trick type. She is described as "a snow blonde." What is a snow blonde? This type is not listed on our Horses & Women Department list of the seventy different kinds of blondes.

PLEASE NOTE: Of the sixty starters in the 1947 Grand National Steeplechase only one, Shelia's Cottage, was a mare. No mare has won the Grand National since 1902. The reason for the lack of success of fillies and mares in the Grand National is probably the same as it is for a similar state of affairs in the Kentucky Derby. Female horses rarely race well in the spring.

FAIR ENOUGH

NEW YORK, June 5—Nicholas Constantin Roerich, the Russian painter who was acknowledged as a spiritual leader and teacher in the mysterious Guru letters attributed to Henry Wallace, is now president of the honorary board of directors of an organization called the American Russian Cultural Relations Association, Inc.

Westbrook Pegler

Its headquarters are at 200 West 57th st. in the same rather bleak and shadowy rooms with the so-called Roerich Academy of Arts.

There are on the walls of one large room a number of paintings done in a medium that gives the effect of Easter egg dye.

These are the works of the old boy with the two-legged beard and the squint eyes who is regarded as a master-intellect.

They are flat pictures, lacking in depth, depicting clouds and mountains. Some experts think Roerich is not an artist at all, but there are others who call him a genius.

Anyway, there is no doubt as to what Roerich thinks of himself. His messages to his following, indeed to mankind, are replete with delicate acknowledgements of his virtue.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR of the cultural relations is Mrs. Dudley Fosdick, who was born in Russia but has been an American citizen for 20 years. Her given name is Sina.

She has been associated with Roerich since the early twenties and made two trips from New York to Tibet in 1925 and 1926 to fetch supplies to an expedition which he was leading.

Mrs. Fosdick says the British and the Tibetan authorities held Roerich for 18 months during that journey but eventually released him.

Although he is known as a Guru or Mahatma, meaning teacher or great soul, Mrs. Fosdick says Roerich is not a Yogi or Theosophist, Rosicrucian or Spiritualist, but a Christian who has studied religion comparatively.

Mrs. Fosdick also says that Roerich never came back from an expedition to Mongolia and China in search of drought-resisting grass seed for the United States Department of Agriculture.

By Wallace's appointment, Roerich took off in 1934 and just kept on going.

Mrs. Fosdick says Wallace let down the old Mahatma, ordering him to proceed to India, while,

Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, June 5—If anybody could be as active and agile as Douglas Fairbanks was in "The Three Musketeers" it is Gene Kelly. And Gene it is for this remake of Dumas' undying classic of the three swordsmen whose motto was "One For All, And All For One." Not only is this on the M-G-M schedule for Kelly, but Pan Berman is putting it into production in September.

We have two heroes currently vieing for the Fairbanks honors—Gene and Doug's own son, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. Not that Douglas will attempt another "Three - Musketeers"—but he certainly specializes in his late father's type of swashbuckling.

Gene won't dance in the Metro version, but his natural grace and agility will do a lot to make D'Artagnan live again. The rest of the cast isn't set—but it will be a big one.

ONE OF THE THINGS that make this job so pleasant is seeing some new personality flash on the screen and saying to myself "She's got it!"

Allene Roberts

That's what I said when I saw Allene Roberts, the pretty young girl who plays the lead in "The Red House," and I've been wondering when, or where, she would crop up next.

Sol Lesser answered that question today when he told me he is combining "Kidnaped" and its sequel, "David Balfour," the Robert Louis Stevenson stories, and co-starring Allene and Lon McCallister.

Lon's contract is shared by Lesser and 20th Century-Fox, and now there's a deal on for 20th to sign up the little Roberts girl on the same sort of deal.

NEVER THOUGHT I'd see the day when a personally written letter from James Mason would come in with the fan mail from the Los Angeles Examiner. By the time it got to me it was almost a month old.

Well, my friend James says the item I flashed that his first Hollywood movie would be with Bette Davis was premature.

"I said I'd like to read the script—but it hasn't been sent on yet," he wrote.

He also goes on to say that he and his wife, Pamela, are toying with the idea of pushing on to California. Another tip I hear about the Masons (not in his letter) is THAT THEY MIGHT BOTH star in a book she wrote, "Lady Possessed." It will be published in August.

RAY MILLAND, in a two-page cable from England, says he has seen almost as much of London on this visit as he did in all the years he lived there.

"We've been on location in Regent's Park, Hyde Park, Lincoln's Inn Fields, Chelsea and Denham on my picture, 'So Evil My Love.' It's difficult to describe the tremendous technical strides made since my start in pictures here, but that is evident in the quality of films being turned out.

"Have found a wonderful flat in Grosvenor sq. for Mal, the youngster and myself, and am getting it ready for their arrival in about two weeks. Fish and chips here just as good as ever. Am arranging to send special recipe for same to Simon's Drive-In, and, of course, fish and chips are no good unless wrapped in newspaper."

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Hedy Lamarr and John Loder have been together nearly every day. While this is no reconciliation, as of today, I believe they will eventually iron out their difficulties. Hedy says there is much to be discussed and she wants to take a vacation before she decides anything.

I must say she looks better, acts happier, and I believe has a firmer grip on herself now. With those two babies it would be too bad if she and John cannot work out their matrimonial problems.

The English actress, Eileen Herlie, who caused such a flurry in London and was promptly pacted by J. Arthur Rank for pictures, has been borrowed to play Queen Gertrude to Olivier's "Hamlet." Wonder if "Hamlet" will be as good as "Henry V," which has really made history, so far as Shakespeare on the screen is concerned.

Miss Herlie is appearing currently on the British stage in "The Eagle Has Two Heads," the play in which Tallulah Bankhead appeared briefly in New York before it folded. It wasn't Bankhead, who is always good, but the play didn't fare very well.

Very interesting what Mrs. Don Wilson has done entirely on her own. Don is the announcer, as you probably know, on the Jack Benny show, the Victor Borge show, and some six or eight others.

I was talking to him when I was on the Borge show, and he said his wife, who calls herself Marusia, had turned designer and sold her designs to Magnin's Bergdorf-Goodman, Neiman Marcus and other leading department stores over the country.

Don is so proud of her he can hardly see. Instead of making sketches as most designers do, she drapes the material on herself and makes the clothes.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: Scotty, the little son of Martha Scott and Carlton Alsop, is on his way here to visit his daddy and his stepmother, Sylvia Sidney.

Olga Baclanova

Olga Baclanova has obtained a legal separation from her husband, publisher Richard Davis. She has been playing in "Claudia," the movie.

So nice to see Jane Bryant, now Mrs. Justin Dart, at Mrs. Eric Johnston's luncheon. Jane retired when she married the drugstore magnate, and she tells me she has never regretted it for a moment. The luncheon was very nice and was for 14 of Mrs. Johnston's school friends and wives of some of the producers. Mrs. Harry Cohn was the most glamorous, Mrs. N. Peter Rathvon the most animated, and Mrs. Y. Frank Freeman the cutest, with that Southern accent.

Frances Langford starts a grand new radio show tomorrow night. Congratulations, Frances.

Betty Hutton's father-in-law and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Briskin, are visiting her and Ted. Papa is lucky. He went to Hollywood Park last week, put a bet on a nag that paid $77 for $2, and came home with $1000 in his pocket. Why can't I pick winners like that?

Charles Korvin becomes an American citizen in just a few days.

Lucky Bing Crosby. He has completed all his radio transcriptions and will vacation the whole summer.

Nan Wynn, who is marrying Milton Pickman, Columbia executive, is here visiting Martha Kemp.

Audrey Totter, who is very difficult to keep up with, romantically speaking, is now turning her eyes in the direction of Lew Ayres.

Lawrence Langner and his wife are in town, also Teresa Helburn and Oscar Hammerstein. They will completely cast "Allegro," new Theater Guild play, with Hollywood actors.

When Greta Garbo's old picture, "Flesh and the Devil," was shown, the Academy Theater, open only to the academy members, looked like "Who's Who." Ingrid Bergman was there to see her, Judy Garland, Vincente Minelli, Celeste Holm, Jeffrey Lynn and his wife, John Garfield, Audrey Totter and many others. And let me say that although the picture, made 20 years ago, is old-fashioned, Garbo is still superb and has never been surpassed.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Boston After Dark

LEGISLATION DESIGNED to place the City of Boston under a commission rule instead of a single chief executive, the Mayor, was to have been introduced on Beacon Hill this week . . . Long in the works, this Republican legislative coup was forecast in this column in April . . . A very busy young Boston legislator was to have fathered the commission-rule legislation, and it would have required something less than a brilliant analyst of Beacon Hill events to conclude that the ailing Robert J. Bottomly, a close friend of this legislator might have been helpful in phrasing and framing the projected legislation.

SOMETHING SEEMS to have gone wrong with the schedule and the timing of this important law-making project, however . . . We were informed that the commission-rule bill would be introduced on Wednesday and that the path had been smoothed for its inclusion on this session's calendar . . . The possible "something" responsible for disrupting the schedule could have been the news from Washington that the Supreme Court had declined to review the Curley case . . . Had a bill been presented in the close wake of this decision by the supreme judiciary it would have suffered a serious loss in sympathy, we believe, because of the timing.

THIS OR ANY SIMILAR move to change the Boston charter so that a commission would supplant or succeed Mayor Curley when the legislation became effective could lose much popularity if a legion of friends and sympathizers of the Boston mayor were to regard it as the work of political grave-diggers eager to get in their spade-work even before they had a corpus delicti.

HIGH REPUBLICANS have conceded (but not for the record) that the legislation to operate this municipality by a commission (as was done successfully in the case of Fall River under the regime of the late Governor Charles F. Hurley) was inspired by the GOP's futility in defeating any popular Democratic candidate for Mayor of Boston . . . Some of the so-called fat-cats of the Republican party have despaired of ever defeating James M. Curley in a contest for the Boston mayoralty, and under the "home rule bill" engineered by Mayor Tobin a Boston mayor now can succeed himself quadrennially or—in Republican eyes—everlastingly.

WHETHER THIS proposed Republican legislative coup will succeed is another matter . . . Insiders insist that Governor Bradford and Mayor Curley have been getting along like a couple of Groton alumni, or like a couple of other fellows from the same corner in Roxbury . . . Any legislation to rule Boston by a commission would need the Governor's approval and active help . . . Regardless of the seeming friendliness between City Hall and the State House, however, we are informed directly from the sanctum of Republicanism that Governor Bradford is committed to the Boston commission idea.

WASHINGTON, June 5—While it is not my practice to serve as stool pigeon for the prohibition forces I feel it is only fair to tip them off that an attempt is being made to put one over. The Department of Interior wants Indians to enjoy the right to get plastered.

Under the signature of Asst. Sec. Warner W. Gardner, the Interior Department has recommended enactment of a bill permitting the sale of firewater to our noble Red Men, so long as they are off the reservation.

This measure, approved by the House committee on public lands, or which Rep. Richard J. Welch of California is chairman, would put off-the-reservation Indians in the same category as any other American who suddenly wishes to belt over a few.

Inasmuch as most of my friends are Indians you ought to see the scalping done on a character called Sen. McMeatball!—I have more than a passing interest in this legislation. Moreover, if it is enacted, it will mean the end of the first prohibition law passed on the North American continent.

THIS LAW is hallowed by tradition because it also gave birth to a word which most of us encountered from time to time in our formative years—"bootlegger." This word, which once rang so sweetly in our ears in the dear, halcyon days when the kiddies used to celebrate St. Valentine's Day by machine-gunning each other, came into the language as follows (Vol. 3, Page 891, Encyclopaedia Britannica):

"The pioneers of early colonial days found it expedient to outlaw the sale of liquor to the Indians, who, unaccustomed to its use, drank to excess and often became dangerous. But unscrupulous citizens, caring more for financial profit than for the community welfare, engaged in the forbidden traffic and often concealed in the legs of their boots the liquor they carried for sale.

"This gave the name 'bootlegger' to the illicit liquor trafficker."

Peter Minuit is popularly credited—or debited—with having bought Manhattan island for $24 and a barrel of whisky. I would not be surprised if he pushed the deal with the judicious administration of a few jolts, but the good old Encyclopaedia—I wish I could spell that word without looking it up every time—is very edgy about permitting booze into the conversation.

It states simply that Manhattan was purchased for "merchandise valued at 60 gilders."

This is probably circumlocution—directed by the circumlocutingest guy in Washington. The guiding genius of the encyclopaedia happens to be Asst. Secretary of State William Benton whose "voice of America" circumlocuted millions of weird words to Europe before our legislators began asking a lot of embarrassing questions.

THE BILL to permit an Indian to get fried away from the government wigwam is applauded by Asst. Secretary Gardner as follows:

"Indians feel keenly their inability to buy a glass of beer or other liquor when they are outside Indian country. They believe that the prohibition which singles them out as a racial group is discriminatory and brands them as inferior."

I can appreciate the latter argument all right because there is nothing like a couple of good snorts, particularly on an empty stomach, to make you feel superior. In fact, a playmate of mine once got feeling so superior he thought he could lick a Northwest Mounted policeman and it wasn't until the next day he realized he had just been overstimulated.

in his absence, another old friend, an intimate of Wallace in those days and ever since, sicked the Internal Revenue on Roerich, alleging that he had not paid enough income tax.

The amount was about $14,000 and Mrs. Fosdick says it was as nasty a job of its kind as you ever saw.

MRS. FOSDICK SAID Roerich always was amazed at Wallace's "immaturity," which was the more amazing in view of the fact that he had nevertheless slobbered his way into the position of Secretary of Agriculture.

"Slobbered" is not an inappropriate word here because Wallace does drool, especially when he is over-wrought in public.

Mrs. Fosdick claimed that Wallace told her and several other members of Roerich's artistic and cultural household, back there in the happy days, that he had a mystical or spiritual American Indian guide who used to bring him messages from some other world, and a friend named Charlie who also served as courier in the same way.

"He would say 'Charlie told me this' or 'Charlie told me that,' Mrs. Fosdick said. "I was so astonished that he could believe in that sort of thing. Even then his language was incoherent. There was no clarity. It is the same today. Once he is not pro-Communist. Then he is pro-Soviet. Then he is pro-British. Then anti-British. He is not consistent."

IN THE ROOM at 200 West 57th st., which serves as an office, there are small, jumbled piles of publications dealing with strange religious and philosophical subjects. The Cultural Ass'n and the Academy of Arts are devoted to religion or philosophy as well as to painting and music.

Three messages from Roerich to the members of the association are published in the report for 1946.

Roerich's messages are addressed from the Himalayas. Some students of Oriental philosophies believe these mountains are the headquarters of a mysterious priesthood of supernormal intellects who are destined to conquer the evil of the world and refine the good in a purifying flame.

Just so, Hitler and old General Ludendorff believed that some spiritual current or other emanating from the sacred soil of Germany did something special for Germans, but not, of course, for Jews or foreigners.

The Guru letters suggest, in an allegorical way that a world-wide holocaust might be a good thing for mankind in the long run. Hitler had somewhat the same idea, and actually did play with matches.

New Scented Bath Wafers

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

MOST GIRLS are looking forward, but anxiously and keenly, to those two weeks . . . with pay and plenty of fun on the agenda.

It is a fortnight of rich leisure. You are going to be a vacation-bound traveler with nothing on your mind but the thought of making that brief respite from city work and weariness a joyous interlude to compensate the rest of the working year.

Not only is it a psychological necessity . . . but a body-builder and rester . . . without which mere mortal couldn't keep plugging day in and day out the remainder of the months. All of us need a vacation . . . a cessation of labor to rest the mind and the nerves and to recapture poise and calm.

Living is an art which . . . we much unhappily admit . . . net too many have learned. But we trust you know how to relax . . . that you've acquired the knack of making, with prescribed laziness, a productive session of good health and good fun.

VACATION NECESSITIES

Don't forget all the vacation necessities. Remember the wardrobe and its scheduled wearing . . . where and when. And high on that list . . . make a mental note of those requisite cosmetics and sun creams and lotions.

AND . . . here's especially good news! Remember to take with you for those enervating tubs after a dip in the briny deep an unusual and different kind of bath enricher and de luxer . . . a tube of 12 fluffy milk bath petal wafters scented with one of the most famous names in fragrance. They'll take up no more precious suitcase room than a hair-brush or a handkerchief case . . . but their size and inconspicuousness are no indication of their personal and intrinsic worth.

Little, but oh so lovely, they are highly concentrated pink and blue wafers . . . and just one fragrant petal is enough to transform an every-day bath into a frothy, perfumed luxury. Just one small wafer . . . dissolved by the force of the water as it runs into the tub . . . will yield a thick blanket of lasting bubbles to soften and perfume the bath with the delightfully clean and delicate fragrance with which it is spiked.

Even if you are not planning to leave the city . . . and the question of spillage is not imminent . . . the use of these fluffy milk petal wafers is still a personal delight and a private excursion into loveliness.

It is a little item such as this that really gives a gal a day-long lift . . . supplies the invisible prodding to keep sweet and lovely always. When all is said and done . . . it is what we think about ourselves that really matters . . . and when we know we are fastidious and feminine in the true sense of the words . . . we're bound to achieve that inner satisfaction which is the keynote to success.

For the name of these unusual fluffy milk bath petal wafers, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, daily except Sunday, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

GLAMOR is just another word for femininity . . . and an endearing word for the gal who has learned the p's and q's of personal appeal . . . for a girl like NBC's Jean Gillespie, who's developed a knack for putting herself together well and with undeniably underwritten charm. Usually she's a girl who's discovered the unique beauty of fluffy milk bath petal wafers that make her every-day bath a frothy and perfumed private luxury.

Girl Who Wants to Fight

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX—I am very much inlove with a fellow who goes to the same school as I do. He told me that he wanted to go out with me the very first time we met.

There is another girl in the same school who likes him, too, and she told me he is not in love with anyone. When I am not around, he is always fooling around with her. I had an argument with this girl because she was always starting gossip about me and this boy. I told this boy that I would beat her up if she doesn't stop it. He told me he didn't want me to fight, and that if I did, he would break off with me. "D. L."

You don't say how old you are, but you sound to me like a baby. What kind of girl are you anyhow, to talk about beating up other girls? Isn't think of any better way to get your boy friend thoroughly disgusted with you than to keep on behaving like a little gutter snipe.

Soup, Salad Season Here

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

HEARTY, STICK-TO-THE-RIBS FARE has been packed away with snuggies and with furs—the soup-and-salad season is "in." A bowl of soup, hot biscuits or warm buns and lots of good marinated green salad tossed with cheese, shredded chicken, tongue or what-have-you is an ideal warm weather menu setup.

When it's time for dessert, cherry pie or tarts topped with ice cream fill the bill very well. Cherries are now at their best in the markets and will be for the next month or two.

If you've wondered how to pit cherries quickly, an easy and efficient way is to use a clean penholder with a new penpoint inserted in it. From there on, it's easy enough to make all these luscious cherry treats.

CHERRY PIE

1 qt. sour pie cherries
2 tbsp. cornstarch
1¼ cups sugar 1-8 tsp. salt

Wash and pit cherries. Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt and mix with cherries. Heap into pastry-lined pie plate. Top with pastry, flute edges and gash the top of the pie in several places to permit the escape of steam. Bake at 450 deg. F. for 10 minutes; then reduce heat to 350 deg. F. and continue baking until crust is golden brown—about 35 minutes.

CHERRY PUDDING

1 3-4 cups sifted flour
2½ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt, ⅓ cup shortening
1 cup sugar 1 egg
½ tsp. lemon extract
1 cup pitted large sweet cherries, drained 2-3 cup milk

Mix flour, baking powder and salt, and sift 3 times. Cream shortening until soft; and sugar gradually, beating until light; beat in egg and flavoring. Add flour alternately with milk, beating until smooth after each addition; add cherries; turn into greased square pan 8x8x2 inches. Bake in moderate oven (350 to 375 deg. F.) for 30 to 45 minutes, or until done. Cut in squares, and serve with hard sauce.

HARD SAUCE

1-3 cup butter or margarine
1 tbsp. cream
1 cup confectioners' sugar
½ tsp. vanilla extract

Cream butter until soft; gradually beat in sugar, then cream add vanilla, beating until fluffy. Pile lightly in serving dish and chill until cold but not hard. Makes ¾ cup sauce, or enough for 4 to 6 portions.

CHERRY SHORTCAKE

3 cups pitted cherries
3 tbsp. water
½ to ¾ cup sugar

Add sugar and water to pitted cherries and simmer 2 minutes, stirring until sugar is dissolved; cool. Bake a one-egg cake in a square loaf pan or cup cake pans; split while warm and place chilled sweetened cherries between layers and on top. Serve with whipped cream; garnish with whole cherries.

ONE-EGG CAKE

2 cups sifted cake flour
2½ tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt 1-3 cup shortening
1 cup sugar 1 tsp. vanilla
1 egg 2-3 cup milk

Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt. Cream shortening until soft and smooth, and gradually add sugar, creaming until fluffy; beat in vanilla and egg. Add flour alternately with milk, beating until smooth after each addition. Turn into greased pan or pans and bake; in square pan in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 50 minutes; in muffin pans in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) about 25 minutes.

Give Clothes Proper Care

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

WHEN PEOPLE stand on street corners and throw dollar bills to the crowds, they are usually hustled off to a hospital for psychiatric observation. The diagnosis, nine times out of 10, does not speak well for their mental health.

Lots of girls neglect to take care of their expensive clothes and if that isn't throwing money away we don't know what is. These girls are short-sighted. They get in late and are tired so they strip off their clothes, let them lie where they fall, get into their pajamas and so to bed. By the next morning, the neglected clothes are wrinkled and out of shape.

The two minutes it would take to hang up a dress, put a hat in its box and insert trees in shoes are as profitable as money out at 6 per cent. It's only good sense to protect your original investment.

First of June Deb Parties

THE WHIRL of "little season" parties, as the June debutante parties are known, begins in earnest tomorrow after graduation exercises at the fashionable private schools. First of the new debs to come out are Helen B. R. Swan and Jane S. Bidwell, who are having a dance together at Weston Golf Club tomorrow evening. Their parents, Dr. and Mrs. Channing S. Swan, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond B. Bidwell of Weston, are giving the party.

Saturday afternoon will mark the debut of attractive Helen L. Kendall, whose mother, Mrs. Henry P. Kendall of Moose Hill Farm, Sharon, is presenting her at a tea dance at The Country Club. Helen will be in the graduating class at Winsor School tomorrow.

Helen Swan

Pourers at Mrs. Kendall's party will be Mrs. George A. Plimpton, Mrs. Fritz B. Talbot, Mrs. Edward Harding, Mrs. Frank G. Allen and Mrs. Harold C. Stuart. The debutante pourers will be Katharine Lawrence, Margaret C. Howe, Mary Ann Weld, Annie Laurie Fabens, Lucy Lowell, Elizabeth Storer, Erica Payson and Marilie Wallace.

Mrs. Joseph F. Wogan of Newton and Mrs. Stanley W. Stedfast of Waban are giving a luncheon at Brae Burn Country Club on June 17 for their daughters, Jane Wogan and Edith Stedfast. The girls graduated from Beaver Country Day this morning.

Mrs. James F. Fitzgerald of Milton is planning a small house dance on June 19 for her debutante daughter, Joan. Earlier that day, there will be a luncheon for Dorothy C. Rau, given by her mother, Mrs. Albert C. Rau at the Copley Plaza, and a tea for Nancy Darrin, given at the Junior League by her mother, Mrs. Erwin Darrin.

PRECEDED BY a whirl of showers, teas and dinner parties, the marriage of Caroline G. Glynn and John Whelan, both of Milton, will take place June 14 in St. Mary's of the Hills, followed by a reception at the Hotel Statler. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Glynn and the groom's parents are Dr. and Mrs. Walter J. Whelan.

Carol attended House in the Pines, Garland School and Katharine Gibbs. Her fiance has resumed his studies at Boston College after serving in the Army Air Corps.

Helen Gunn of Milton will be Carol's maid of honor and the bridesmaids Mary Whelan, Gertrude Sullivan, Milton; Angela Collett, New York; and Shirley Durfee, Wickford, R. I.

Robert Whelan will be best man. The ushers will be Paul and Donald Gunn, Milton; Walter Grande, Everett; and George Smith, Cambridge.

'Joan of Lorraine' On Summer Stage

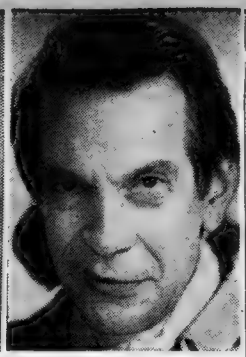
The Boston Summer Theater will open its second season on June 23 in air-conditioned New England Mutual Hall with a presentation of Maxwell Anderson's Broadway drama hit, "Joan of Lorraine," starring Madge Evans. Lee Falk will direct.

The production will remain at this theater for two weeks, moving to the Cambridge Summer Theater for a third week, beginning July 7.

John Huntington and Lee Falk, who operate both the Boston Summer and the Cambridge Summer Theaters, will open the latter theater's eighth season on the night of June 30 with a production of Tennessee Williams' prize-winning play, "The Glass Menagerie," starring Helen MacKellar and Julie Haydon. Falk also will direct this production.

"DISCOVERY," fascinatingly factual film record of R. Adm. Byrd's Antarctic expedition, is due on the Center screen next Thursday night.

"BELL SONG," possibly Lily Pons' best tune in "Carnegie Hall," is certain to register favorably with Esquire Theater first nighters on June 17.



ANOTHER BEST for the book is Raymond Massey's make believing in "Stairway to Heaven," remaining a third week at the Exeter.

'Palmy Days' Tops Laffmovie Bill

The Eddie Cantor-starring "Palmy Days," with George Raft and Charlotte Greenwood, is presently being revived on the Laffmovie screen.

Eddie appears as an unwilling assistant to a gang of crooked fortune-tellers and spiritualists planning to wreck a Rube Goldberg-styled bakery by installing the great-eyed little fellow as efficiency expert.

Accompanying featurettes include "Keystone Hotel," with Ben Turpin; "Pardon My Terror," with Schilling and Lane, and Walt Disney and Merrie Melody cartoons.

Two Adventure Gems at Tremont

"Captain Caution," starring Alan Ladd, Victor Mature, Bruce Cabot and Leo Carrillo, and "Captain Fury," with Brian Aherne, Victor McLaglen, Paul Lukas and Virginia Field, make up the Tremont screen's current double-feature bill.

The one, a sea story, unfolds against the background of the war of 1812. The other portrays the high, wide and handsome adventures of a political prisoner from Ireland who arrives in Australia to discover the perfidious practices of feudal estate-minded land barons.

'Henry V' to Net Four Million Profit

An $8,000,000 United States gross for J. Arthur Rank's "Henry V" was predicted the other day by Gradwell L. Sears, vice-president in charge of distribution for United Artists. Net profit accruing from the picture's engagements is expected to hit the $4,000,000 mark.

United Artists has played off 173 "Henry V" engagements including 52 Canadian showings. A summer innovation will be the scheduling of dates at popular eastern resort towns. With a heavy demand for return engagements, the picture will be shown in repeat performances.

Weston Playhouse To Reopen June 26

Worked Hard for First Role

Kathryn Grill, who will be seen in "Dark Memory," the new Herman Boxer play opening a two-week engagement at the Wilbur on Monday night, is a firm advocate of experimental groups in the theater—and with reason.

With the ink drying on her diploma from the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, she tackled the Broadway producing offices. Result: nil. She was about to despair when she heard that a group of enterprising young players were planning to present a drama by an unknown young author named Irwin Shaw, grimly titled "Bury the Dead."

All this would hardly have sounded promising to the veteran player, but to this novice in the drama it seemed like a chance to get up on a stage and act. She applied for a role and got it. The play, incidentally, won accolades from Broadway critics and audiences, and she was on the high road to success.

Miss Grill thereafter was kept notably busy in "Two Hundred Were Chosen," "But For the Grace of God," "Dame Nature," "Robin Landing," Cheryl Crawford's fine production of "Family Portrait" and most recently in "Pick-Up Girl," in which she impersonated the mother of the errant girl.

"Dark Memory" will afford her an interesting role. Presented by Edith Gordon, new feminine entry into the ranks of Broadway producers, it will be seen on Broadway following its Boston showing.

Sox Spirits High Looking Forward To Detroit Series

Herb Finnegan

By HERB FINNEGAN

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 5—Buoyed by their 5-2 victory over the Browns and their 12 hits off Muncrief and Moulder, the Red Sox were in high spirits this morning as they looked forward to their three-game series in Detroit, a series that opens tomorrow.

They've received good pitching in the past three days from Ferriss, Hughson and Dobson (though Hughson lost) and they expect help soon from southpaw Mickey Harris. In addition, Doerr returned sooner than expected.

"We gotta take all three games," they agreed as they boarded the plane which would get them into Detroit in time for the Yanks-Tigers game (4 p. m. EDT). "How about it, Birdie?" and they swarmed around the Sox catcher, late of Detroit.

"Stop Kell, and you'll stop the Tigers," said Tebbetts. "He's the lights, liver and lungs of the club. But he's tough to stop. No pitcher will throw a fast ball past him, and he murders the curve. "I see they dropped him from second to sixth in the batting order. That means he'll be in position to drive in some runs." (Ed. Note: Kell may miss series due to injuries received from the spikes of George Stirnweiss, Yankee second baseman.)

They need runs, Birdie added. Too much depends on their pitching. They've got to get a well-pitched game every day to win (he rated Hutchinson next to Newhouser).

He was asked about Evers.

"Good, very good young ball player," he commented. "He's a .300 hitter, can field, throw and run. He's the Vosmik type—steady, dependable and will wear well. But I'll take Mele over him. Mele looks like a future great, really great, where Evers will be just good."

Everybody has high praise for Mele. In the southland, Dizzy Trout said he could be pitched to, but Sam tripled off Trout the first time he met him in Boston. It is easy to recall the triple, two singles and four RBI he made off Newhouser in Detroit.

Only a few hours back, Muddy Ruel, Bob Muncrief and a kid infield named Friend were huddled together in the Browns' dugout.

"WE PITCHED HIM high and inside in the Eastern League last year," said Friend, but he forgot to tell Muncrief that Mele led the league in hitting and was its most valuable player. "Mele's a low ball hitter."

Well, the Sox were leading 3-2 after Williams' sixth-inning home run. It was still anybody's game because Dobson seemed to be tiring. Moses was on first in the eighth when Mele came to bat. Muncrief pitched him high and inside, and Mele parked the ball high in the bleachers for a two-run homer. It was all over, 5 to 2.

Muncrief has a temper, as those who've seen him know. He didn't pitch the ninth "because I went looking for that dirty so-and-so who said he was a low-ball hitter. I hope they send him to Peoria."

Ruel had been talking about Mele during batting practice. "I've found him very annoying," he said, remembering the four hits Sam made out here last trip before he hurt his back, and the three hits he made in Tuesday's night game. "He requires deep study."

Ruel got serious.

"He seems to have everything," he said. "Power, speed, arm. A fine young ball player. How long do you suppose it will take before the majors again get the crops of good young ball players they were getting before the war?"

Muddy, like Wish Egan, thinks it will be several years, three to five. He's not content with some of the older players on his club, but has no young talent to replace them. "This is a young man's game," said Ruel. He mentioned "hungry fighters."

That's Mele. He's one kid who wasn't spoiled by the big money last year. He wasn't around. He knew he had to fight for his job this year, and he beat out Layden and Goodman, high-priced talent from a higher league.

Yet, he's the same shy kid he was in '42, when he reported at Fenway for a tryout. He answers to the "Bush" tag the older players pin on all kids. He never raises his voice above a whisper.

He's quality through and through. Sam Dente (now at Louisville) told of their approach to Sarasota after a long and dusty train ride from New York. "Let's shave and put on a clean shirt," Mele advised him. "We're in the big league now."

Sox say he has the actions of Joe DiMaggio, but Mele says: "Saw him play only two or three games until this season."

Umpire Joe Paparella lives outside Scranton. "They'll never forget Mele there," said Joe. "I'm not fooling when I say he could be mayor of the city if he so wished. Remember the 3000 who came from Scranton to see the Sox at Yankee Stadium? They were all yelling for Mele, were they not?"

Bostonians will be yelling for the kid in similar fashion, because, as Bobby Doerr says "He makes hitting look easy, like Kell."

THE THIRD BASE parade is on again. Last year it was Andres, Pellagrini, Culberson, Gutteridge, Russell, Higgins and Co. This year it's been Pellagrini, Shofner, Pesky, Russell and now Gutteridge . . . Dobson complained of a "tired arm" after he had held the Browns to four hits, and two runs and fanned six in seven innings, so Johnson stepped in and retired six hitters in a row two via strikeout route . . . Moses combed Muncrief for three hits and boosted his average to .400 again . . . Mele is batting .333, Williams .296, Doerr .246, Pesky .265, York .222, Tebbetts .111. Ted hurt his right instep in the second inning the same way he hurt it twice before—foul tick off his bat. He stuck it out and hit his 12th home run, his third of the year here. Culberson took over in the eighth.

DAY OFF TODAY, but both trainees and flyers will arrive in Detroit in time to see Yanks-Detroit game . . . Sox gained half a game by their win. Now are 4½ back. They were only ½ games when they left home . . . They've won 4, lost 9 on the road, have three games in Detroit, three in Cleveland remaining . . . Ferriss, Hughson and Dobson will be ready for the Detroit series . . . Mele has added a head first slide to his repertoire, and Bostonians will love it. He made a nice running back catch of Heath's 400-foot drive in the fourth . . . Mele's hit safely in seven straight games, Pesky in six.

Sain Opposes Brecheen In Braves-Cards Finale

By FRED HOEY

Back to their winning ways, the Braves engaged the St. Louis Cards in a single game this afternoon at the Wigwam.

Johnny Sain (5-3), was Billy Southworth's pitching choice to oppose Harry "The Cat" Brecheen, who is well remembered by local fans as the one who won three games from the Red Sox in the last World Series.

Brecheen is a mighty fine hurler but he had a worthy foe in Sain who appears to have overcome the trouble that recently handicapped him.

In these days of ragged pitching, it's a great comfort to sit and observe smart pitching. That is what 29,445 fans saw last night as Charlie "Red" Barrett came up with his fourth well-pitched game. He gave his old teammates, the Cards, six hits, but scattered them over the route as he won 3 to 1.

It was with considerable comfort that we saw Al Brazle and Murry Dickson hit by the Braves. Last fall, across the tracks, we wished for the same thing in the World Series but nothing happened.

Nanny Fernandez, who subbed for Bob Elliott at third when the latter had to retire because of his ailing shoulder, supplied the big hit that won the game for the Braves in the sixth. He belted a terrific home run in the same left field spot that Elliott places his. Many in the park thought it was Elliott at bat. The homer came with the score 1-1, Connie Ryan having scored in the third on Hopp's single.

Danny Litwhiler followed Manny to the plate and duplicated this time to left-center, completing the night scoring.

The Cards' run came through the medium of doubles by Terry Moore and Country Slaughter in the first inning.

Earl Torgeson went hitless after running his string to 15 straight games. But Torgy can believe that the ghost of the great Hal Chase returned suddenly to help Stan Musial to make two miraculous plays on him in the sixth and eighth innings to cut the string. It was pure larceny!

Hal Chase at his very best, and we saw him, never pulled two more spectacular plays. Tough part of it was that one turned into a double play when the great Musial snagged a ripping grounder on the line, stepped on the bag and pegged to second, getting Hopp.

In the eighth, Torgy hit a vicious grounder down the first base line. How Musial ever came up with the ball is still a mystery.

State Golf 3rd Round At Belmont

By BILL GRIMES

Due to the elimination of Mrs. C. F. Eaton, Jr., TCC, and Mrs. Henri F. Prunaret, Charles River, Mrs. Chester C. Vaughn, Mrs. Leo Martin, and Mrs. John H. Nies, United Shoe, made debuts in the quarter finals of the State championship today at Belmont Country Club.

Mrs. Vaughan, who came here 10 years ago from Columbus, O., stepped through Mrs. Eaton, who was the unsuccessful finalist in the 1931 W.G.A. championship at Brae Burn. And, Mrs. Nies, who took the measure of Mrs. Willard Howard, TCC, in the opening round at the 20th hole, eliminated Mrs. Prunaret.

Until she joined the old Riverside Golf Club, now the Leo Martin G. C. in honor of the former New England and State amateur champion, who lost his life during the war, Mrs. Vaughan had never played golf. But after taking about 20 lessons from John Homans, the pro at Leo Martin, and playing in team matches for the Western Division, Mrs. Vaughan qualified for the W.G.A. State championship in 1941 at Winchester.

Like the Leo Martin G. C., Riverside was a public course, owned and operated by the Commonwealth. Back in 1940, Mrs. Vaughan, Mrs. Lewis Ingram, Mrs. Harry Hovey and Mrs. Fred Swaine decided that they would like to play in the W. G. A. event. But because Riverside was not a member club of the association, they were ineligible. Unable to get any help from the State, Mrs. Vaughan, Mrs. Ingram, Mrs. Hovey and Mrs. Swaine enrolled the Riverside G. C. in the W. G. A. and have been paying the dues annually for seven years. Today, there are about twenty women golfers at the Leo Martin G. C., who contribute a dollar a year so that their club may retain its membership in the W. G. A.

Mrs. E. H. Baker, Oakley, five-time winner of the state title, eliminated Mrs. Vaughan in the first round of match play at Winchester in '41. This year, Mrs. Vaughan defeated Mrs. Thomas J. Carty, Woodland, 4 and 3 in the opening round and yesterday she knocked the prediction into a cocked hat by beating Mrs. Eaton 2 and 1.

Mrs. John H. Nies is playing her first state championship. For years she was too busy following her husband around golf courses to give her own game any attention. Then her son, John, Jr. took up the game and he kept her constantly on the go getting him to and from tournaments. Mrs. Nies has made up for lost time at Belmont. She opened up with a 20 hole win over Mrs. Willard Howard who has been a threat to win the state title for years and yesterday she softened up the lower bracket by taking Mrs. Brunaret out of competition.

So, in two rounds, Mrs. Nies has been a giant killer. She is playing Mrs. Donald K. McClusky, Worcester, who was beaten in the finals a year ago by Mrs. Paul Black.

"There's something about it I like," said one man who saw this shoe in our window and came in to try it on. Perhaps it was the subtly different and rather patrician look it has, or the mellow tan calf, or the superb craftsmanship. Anyway, he bought it. It is a fine shoe, and we know there's something about it that you'll like, too.

Somerville Shows Class

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Somerville and Newton high schools, champions of the Greater Boston and Suburban Leagues, will be the semi-finalists in the upper bracket of the Eastern State championship playoff tomorrow afternoon at Fenway Park in the third round of the tournament conducted by the Schoolboy Writers' Ass'n.

Other contenders were to qualify in today's doubleheader (2 p. m.), which found Lynn Classical meeting B. C. High and Norwood facing Belmont.

Somerville certainly belongs. Newton must certainly thank its lucky stars that things went as they did in their first test of the tourney against Malden Catholic when the jittery Catholic league titlists quite generously paved the way for the retiring Coach Jeff Jones club.

Somerville, with its southpaw Tom Gallagher allowing the opposition only two hits, was definitely the best team in the upper bracketing. The club of Barney Curtin came from behind to take over the lead after Gallagher, a loser in a one-hitter last season, was threatened by a similar fate this year. They beat the previously unbeatable Buzz Bowers (10-0) of the Wayland club for this new chance.

Newton had little to offer in the way of pitching. From the start, Jim Keefe and then Paul Condon were rapped soundly by the Malden Catholic batters. Not until Hal Wiper southpawed his way into the game did the Orange and Black club show a semblance of a league championship club.

Of the seven runs Newton scored in the triumph over the Catholic leaguers, all were unearned. Even the winning tally with two out in the ninth was ridiculously tainted as John Cousens crossed the plate with the ball dribbling lazily into right field after an error.

For Somerville, there'll be no change in the lineup as the right-handed Al Gounar is (4-0) takes over the mound. For Newton, it might even be Jim Keefe back, or possibly Condon, or even the winning Wiper of the Malden game.

Midget Car Drivers Duel At Groveland Tonight

GROVELAND, June 5—New England's outstanding midget auto drivers, headed by defending titlist Eddie Casterline of Newton, will be returning to the Pines speedway here tonight for another program of floodlight races scheduled to get under way at 7:45.

Casterline, recently returned after a crack at the speed marks at Indianapolis, will be up against some rugged competition from such aces as Bobby Blair, Dedham; Oscar Ridlon, Roxbury; Joe Sostilio, Natick; Dick Thompson, Lowell, and Dick Shubruck, Cohasset.

PERES PLAY MERCHANTS

Sandlot Trials Go on In Worcester June 18

By JACK CONWAY, JR.

The mightiest of all amateur baseball productions, the National Hearst Sandlot championships, moves into the second of 13 stages on Wednesday afternoon, June 18, at the Oval in Worcester. The first of the try-outs to select baseball timber for the New England title game at Fenway Park and the national title game at the Polo Grounds was held at Lawrence today.

Worcester, a city of close to a quarter-million persons, is a natural for such a tournament. For years, Worcester has been on the verge of breaking into big-time athletic endeavors. It seems that now the great industrial city will take the steps.

Already plans are well under way to build a large enclosed arena in Worcester for fights, wrestling, track meets and hockey. Only recently, at the first meeting of the new Atlantic Coast Baseball League at the Biltmore in Providence, Claude Dividson announced that Worcester would have a Class A baseball franchise.

So this year's second Hearst tryout will be played in a red hot community. Many of the older baseball fans vividly recall the Oval, where this year's tryouts will be held. The Oval was famous as the home of the Worcester National League Club before the turn of the century.

The park is still in the best of condition. It is directed by St. John's Church in Worcester where its energetic athlectic director, Rev. Edward Reilly, sponsors some of the best ball teams in the locality. The park, although directed by Father Reilly, is domineered by an old-timer named "Lefty" Wilson, who in his day was a formidable professional pitcher.

Jack Nugent, supervisor of recreation for the city of Worcester, is high in his praises of the Hearst baseball promotion. "A baseball tournament of this kind is great for the younger ball players. It will stimulate interest in the game and add impetus to our large scaled park league system.

"Worcester will do everything possible to make this year's Hearst school a great success," concluded Mr. Nugent.

Plans have been made by Nugent, Bill Regan, Earl Brigham and other members of Worcester athletic groups to conduct the tournament at 2:30 o'clock on the afternoon of Wednesday, June 18, at the Oval. The Oval is located in the lake section of Worcester.

The tournament is open to every amateur ballplayer in Worcester and the adjoining sections. The minimum age limit is 15 years. The maximum is 18.

There is no entrance fee. Everything is FREE.

The board of experts at Worcester will select the two most promising ballplayers in their try-out. These players will then be sent to Fenway Park, July 29, for the All-New England final. The N. E. championship game will follow a Red Sox-Cleveland Indians game.

Two boys will then be selected from this game to make the seven-day free trip to New York for the national title game at the Polo Grounds.

British Golfers Anxious To Atone for Cup Defeats

PHILADELPHIA, June 5 (AP)—It may take until November but the British are coming in an attempt to atone for their Walker Cup defeat and the humiliation of an All-American final in the British amateur gold championship.

Big Ed Dudley, president of the Professional Golf Ass'n, says the Ryder Cup golf matches between the United States and Britain will be renewed this year if at all possible, despite reports to the contrary.

The British, Dudley declared, have advised him they won't be able to make it for Ryder Cup competition before late November because of a heavy schedule, but that they are very anxious to vie for the cup now held by the United States.

The U. S. won the cup, donated by Samuel Ryder, British sportsman, by defeating the British team at Southport, England, in 1937. Competition for the prize was scheduled in 1939 in Florida but war interrupted the play.

The British PGA accepted an invite last December to resume the cup matches, but, as Dudley explained, there has been some talk that the Britons would pass up the event because of England's economic position and the expense of transatlantic travel.

"We don't want to call it off if we can possibly help it," declared Dudley.

Apparently that's the way the English feel. America now holds the Walker and Ryder Cups and also the British Amateur crown, and the linksmen from across the Atlantic would like nothing better than a shot at taking back one of its lost prizes.

Dudley said the tentative date for the cup competition of Sept. 15 at Lorraine Country Club, Dayton, O., was ruled out after the British disclosed their inability to make the date.

"We now hope to hold it either on the West Coast or down South," the PGA president said.

The American Ryder Cup team, Dudley said, would be picked at Detroit on June 23 by Craig Wood, team captain; George Schneiter, chairman of the tournament committee, and other members of the committee, including Dudley. The U. S. squad will be selected regardless of the status of the matches at that time.

Dudley added that should the matches be delayed until next year, the team selected in June would represent America.

But Dudley seemed confident that the English team would appear in November. He didn't say it, but the inference was there.

Pay Last Respects To Jimmy Wilson

PHILADELPHIA, June 5 (INS)—Scores of major league associates had paid their last respects today to Jimmy Wilson, former star catcher and manager, who died last Saturday in Bradenton, Fla.

They were among more than 1000 persons who filed past his body at a viewing in Philadelphia last night. Flowers from many major league clubs and other organizations banked the casket.

A huge blanket of carnations was sent by the Cincinnati Reds, the team for which Wilson starred in the 1940 World Series by stealing a base at the age of 40 and paving the way for victory. Roses were sent by the Phillies, Giants, Cubs, Braves and other clubs.

President Warren Giles and other executives and payers from the Cincinnati Club went to the viewing following their game with the Phillies. The Blue Jays followed the Reds in the viewing.

Injury Jinx Scrambles Flag Data

When the 1947 major league races are decided in the final week of September, searchers of whys and wherefores may very well point back to the first week in June as the turning point of the campaign, according to the Associated Press.

For in the past few days the winning and losing of games has taken a back seat in the matter of importance to the shocking series of injuries which have befallen some of the contending teams.

Since Memorial Day, at least four highly regarded teams—the Tigers and Red Sox in the American League and the Dodgers and Cubs in the National—have been crippled by injuries which might prove damaging to their pennant aspirations.

Probably the most cruel blow of all was dealt to the Dodgers when Pete Reiser, their star centerfielder, suffered a "laceration of the skull" in a collision with the concrete centerfield wall at Ebbets Field. Reiser had just committed highway robbery on Pittsburgh outfielder Rikard with a sensational catch of his fifth inning fly when he crashed sickeningly into the wall. He dropped inert on the ground and was carried off the field on a stretcher.

Reiser has crashed concrete on several other occasions in his career. Only last season, he crashed into the wall at Ebbetts field and suffered dizzy spells for the remainder of the year, going in and out of the lineup.

Three Detroit regulars were injured in yesterday's double-header with the Yankees. They were George Kell, hard-hitting third baseman; Dick Wakefield, slugging left fielder, and Paul (Dizzy) Trout, one of the Tigers' first string pitchers.

Wakefield twisted his left knee sliding into second and was helped off the field. He is expected to be out for about four days. Trout, sliding 6-2 in the last of the seventh of the same game, gave way to Freddie Hutchinson after a recurrence of an old groin injury.

In Tuesday night's game at the Polo Grounds, the Cubs suffered three mishaps. Third baseman Stan Hack twisted a leg and had to be carried off the field. He will be out indefinitely. Outfielder Bill Nicholson and first baseman Ed Waitkus escaped serious injury when hit by batted balls.

In addition, the White Sox suffered the loss of second baseman Cass Michaels for a time when he crashed with center fielder Thurman Tucker chasing a fly ball in the fifth inning of yesterday's game with the Athletics. He had four teeth jarred loose. Cincinnati also were minus the services of left fielder Augie Galan.

Bass Running in Canal Reported Under Weight

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Striped bass are running in the Cape Cod Canal! The first real school churned through the Buzzards Bay end of the canal early yesterday morning, on the incoming tide, according to Jocko the Beachcomber, well-known angler of Worcester, who took several specimens near the Bourne Bridge.

"The bass are very underweight, it seems," said Jocko, "but they're all over the legal length limit. I had to fish deep for 'em, using a barracuda or an ellskin rig."

Scores of the stripers could be seen surfacing as they raced through the canal . . . This should be encouraging news to myriads of anxious anglers, who have been awaiting the opportunity to wet their lines in the "big ditch" . . . There aren't any bass in the Herring Run at the moment.

The boys at the Buzzards Bay Red Top Bait Co. send word that Ed Krajeski, vice-pres. of the North Shore Rod and Gun Club, Beverly, hit a fair-sized striper on a Blue Flash . . . Earle Zeviga also took two fish, using a spinner and feathered hook . . . Looks as though this section will teem with fishermen this week-end.

ANGLERS ANGLES: An unknown Izaak Walton recently landed a 53-pound striped bass, off Chatham, we learned from a reliable source! This bull is a whopper for so early in the season—or for any time. The rod wielder would not reveal his name, fearing to divulge the "hot spot." His catch has been entered in the annual Field and Stream contest.

A "non-backlash surf casting reel" may be on the market next year—we hope! We met the chap who has invented this long-sought-for device, and he claims the reel is foolproof, save for a few wrinkles . . . "I get so many backlashes, I just had to make a reel for myself," he said.

Off to a slow start, the salmon and lake trout fishing is speeding up in New Hampshire, where such waters as Winnipesaukee, Big Squam, Newfound, Sunapee, and those in the Pittsburg area are producing very well—much to the delight of hundreds of anglers. The sport is better, too, in the brook trout streams, although high water still prevails in mountain regions and large rivers. Ponds proved to be the best bets for many during last week-end.

"Sarge" Sargent, of the Goose Hummock Shop, Orleans, informs us that fly fishing for small stripers is now the vogue in Pleasant Bay . . . Another unidentified sportsman caught a 33-pounder on herring bait, off the parking lot at Nauset Beach. Wonder why these chaps are so bashful? . . . Sargent hooked a 12½-pound bass, surf casting near Nauset Inlet. He later piloted his boat, "Sou'wester," over "acres of stripers," near Billingsgate Island, but failed to get a rise, although he tried every bait in the book! This may be classed as exasperating angling.

Lawrence Ends Slump; Gains on Leading Sox

After losing six of their last seven, the Lawrence Millionaires today boasted a double triumph over the Providence Chiefs who thereby dropped from fourth to sixth place in the New England League.

Bill Cearley thumped a three-run homer last night in the opening inning of the first game at Lawrence which the Millionaires took, 5-2. The home club came from behind twice to take the nightcap, 8-7.

The double victory moved the third place Millionaires to within five games of the league-leading Lynn Red Sox who split with the Fall River Indians.

The Indians, in fifth place as of today, took the seven-inning opener, 3-1, and the Sox came back to clout 18 hits for a 15-1 nightcap triumph.

Nashua's second-place Dodgers out-hit the Manchester Giants but lost, 10-7, as the Giants made it nine victories in their last ten starts. Despite the loss, Manchester advanced from fifth to fourth place in the standings.

And the last place Portland Pilots bounced back to capture both ends of a double engagement from the second last Pawtucket Slaters.

That double triumph narrowed the gap between last and seventh place to one game.

Only three games are scheduled for tonight. Nashua visits Providence, Pawtucket plays at Lynn and Manchester is booked for a twilight engagement at Portland.

Campbell Sends His V. F. W. Nine Against Royals

Fresh from an upset win over the Dick Casey Club, last night at Jefferson, Dave Campbell will take his Hyde Square V. F. W. nine to Healy Field tonight to joust with the Roslindale Royals in a feature of seven Park League games. A young club, the overseas vets have come into their own in the last 10 days, rising from the cellar to fourth spot in the East Division.

Despite three shakeups, Teddy Lyons, of the Conley Amvets, has been unable to weld the winning combine. Tonight, Ted will try once more when he sends Lou Hagan to the Conley Amvets' rubber at Ronan against West Roxbury, while, at Cleveland Circle, the Vets Administration will have Lefty O'Toole on the hill to go against the league-leading Artesani Club.

Air Patrol In Gansett Spring 'Cap

By DAVE WILSON

NARRAGANSETT PARK, June 5—Trainer Jimmy McGee has notified Racing Secretary M. C. (Tyrone) Shea that he is shipping the Shamrock Stable's Air Patrol here to compete in Saturday's running of The Spring Handicap, $10,000 added six-furlong sprint for three-year-olds and upwards. Air Patrol finished second to Polynesian in The Inaugural Handicap on May 26, at Atlantic City, Jockey R. J. Martin is likely to come on from Atlantic City to ride Air Patrol, according to Shea.

Jack L. McKnight's consistent Agrarian-U will be the starting topweight under 124 pounds in The Spring Handicap field on Saturday. Polynesian, the original topweight under 134 pounds, will pass up the race, but may be sent here for some of the later stakes. Not including Air Patrol, 35 of the sprinters eligible for Saturday's race are on the grounds. It's possible that the first stake to be contested at the current meeting will be run in two sections.

A race horse is never safely home until he crosses the wire. This was amply demonstrated in the seventh race at Narragansett Park the past Tuesday.

Approaching the sixteenth pole, Son of Tarra was literally bowling along with a wide margin and it looked to be all over except for the cheering.

Suddenly, Son of Tarra, who usually loses his races by bolting to the outside fence on the turns, crashed into the inner rail and tossed Jockey Rocco Sisto into the centerfield.

According to Sisto, who rode Son of Tarra and should know, his mount shied away from the starting gate, then propped and crashed into the rail when stung by the whip.

Jockey Danny Johnson and Trainer E. E. Russell have parted company and Johnson is coming on from Atlantic City to ply his trade at this meeting . . . Trainer F. C. Dunn has transferred his extensive string from Havre de Grace to Suffolk Downs, and will probably run a few of his charges at this meeting

BALL PLAYER BANNED FOR LIFE

COLUMBUS, O., June 5 (AP)—Marion Allen McElreath, outfielder with the Muskogee, Okla., club of the Western Ass'n, today was banned permanently from baseball by Professional Baseball Clubs.

Trautman said his investigation ascertained that on May 4, at St. Joseph, Mo., McElreath told a fellow player that "we can make some good money if we throw one of the games."

The player reported the matter the following day.

Trautman said his investigation of the May 4 game showed that, with Muskogee leading 5 to 1, and St. Joseph at bat with the bases loaded, McElreath missed a high fly which went for a triple, three runs scoring.

Later in the game, Trautman reported, with Muskogee at bat and leading 5 to 1, with a man on first, batter McElreath signaled for the "hit and run" but failed to swing at a called strike, the runner being thrown out at second.

Reiser Hurt Again—The Dodgers' hard luck outfielder, Pete Reiser, is carried into the clubhouse on a stretcher after he struck his head against the Ebbets Field wall while making a spectacular catch in last night's game against the Pirates. The Dodgers' physician said Pete sustained a cut on his head and appeared not seriously hurt.

Slugger

Bob Feller, Cleveland pitching ace, displays the artillery he used last night in getting three hits out of four trips to the plate, including two doubles, to help his teammates defeat the Senators, 6 to 2. The victory was Bob's sixth against five losses.

Last Rites

In a dramatic street scene, Rev. John Johnson, of Queens, N. Y., kneels in the street near his church to give final absolution to Joseph Arlanskas, 13, of St. Albans, N. Y., who was crushed by a heavy gravel truck while bicycling to school. The boy died before reaching a hospital.
